Further to my email sent to Agnes Hilsen yesterday, I received a phone call this morning from Don Sigston (District staff). Don tells me that our letter, together with copies of the City and West Van bylaws, has been sent to the District solicitor, with the question "is there any reason why the District cannot align its noise bylaw with that of the other municipalities?" (or words to that effect).

He expects an answer some time next week, at which time I should receive a formal response to the letter.
