>

> Once again reports have surfaced that Translink intends to close its North Vancouver Bus Depot and move it to Burnaby. The reasons given are the same as those given previously which is that this move will economize the operation.

>

> On paper this may well be true. However, in reality, it will have at least potentially detrimental effects on North Vancouver Transit users. For Buses going from Burnaby to North Vancouver being held up at the bridge is merely one reason.

>

> This issue was raised on a previous occasion and, at that time, the North Shore Councils voiced their concern about such a move and it behooves Council to voice its strong opposition once again.
