Tuesday, December 7, 2004 7:45 - 9:00 a.m.

"The External Advisory Committee on Cities and Communities is part of a new way of doing business in Canada - one that involves partnership," said Mike Harcourt. "The Government of Canada already has massive involvement in cities. It must ensure that its involvement is harmonized with provincial jurisdictions and with municipal priorities and needs, for the benefit of citizens in every community across Canada."

The mandate of the committee is to:

- * Develop a long-term vision on the role that cities should play in sustaining Canada's quality of life by looking at such issues as the environment, competitiveness and social cohesion;
- * Provide advice as policies related to cities and communities are developed;
- * Enrich the discussion of policy options by bringing regional and issue-specific expertise to the table;
- * Advise the Parliamentary Secretary on how best to engage provincial, territorial and Aboriginal governments in moving forward on the new deal; and
- * Complement communications efforts and public activities carried out by the Prime Minister and the Parliamentary Secretary.

Mike Harcourt of Vancouver, British Columbia is the former Premier of British Columbia and the former Mayor of the City of Vancouver. He is chair of the Prime Minister's External Advisory Committee on Cities and Communities, Chair of the International Centre for Sustainable Cities, Senior Associate of the Liu Institute for Global Issues at the University of British Columbia, Vice-chair of CitiesPLUS and Senior Associate with the Sustainable Development Research Institute of the University of British Columbia.
