

Subject: 221 Lloyd-West Van bus depot

Date: Tue, 04 Oct 2005 13:49:05 -0700

From: Cathy Adams <cathyadams@canada.com>

To: James Ridge <James_Ridge@dnv.org>

CC: council@dnv.org, corrie@kost.ca, hunterjohn@telus.net, wrtracey@telus.net, fonvca@fonvca.org, pat45@shaw.ca, allandorr@shaw.ca, macdunn@uniserve.com, Irwin_Torry@dnv.org, Donna_Howes@dnv.org, andersen@sagafc.com, m.bragg@shaw.ca, valeriem@blaze.ca, bplatts@shaw.ca, cagebc@yahoo.com

Dear Mr. Ridge

Please pass this request on to a staff member who can assist me with some information.

I was looking at this property on the District's website, and have a couple of questions.

Ownership - I had the understanding that the blue bus depot at 221 Lloyd Avenue was a site owned by the District of North Vancouver. The DNV website indicates that the Greater Vancouver Transit Authority is the owner. Is this correct? I have stated on numerous occasions, including today, that the District owns that site, and never been corrected, even by people who ought to know if indeed I am in error.

From the District website:

Property Attributes

Title Value Description

PORT TAX CAP - 2005

GVRD ADJUSTMENT - 2005

Does Translink receive a "discount" or partial exemption on the taxes they pay on this site?

Thank you

Cathy Adams