Subject: Sexual Assault

This morning, just before 10:00am, we responded to a report of an attempted sexual assault on a woman as she was jogging on a trail near 27th Street and Poplynn Drive in the Lynn Valley area of North Vancouver. The female was pushed down from behind by an unknown male. The male reportedly then groped the female and attempted to take off her pants as she was on her back. The victim, who is in her 50's, screamed and was able to run away from her attacker.

The male was wearing a dark hooded sweatshirt that concealed his face, and also was wearing dark blue nylon track pants with light blue stripes down the sides. Unfortunately these are the only descriptors available for the suspect. The suspect was last seen running away from the scene towards the area of Bushnell Place. A police dog attended to the scene but could not find a track for the suspect.
