Thank you, I agree. It does suck when a trail becomes a freeway. That's why there needs to be a group of people to watch over the environmental concerns etc. With the proper precautions/procedures, high traffic wouldn't be an issue- (but not all trails should be advertised among the community, most should try to be kept on the D.L.)

Dear Mr. Williams:

We want you to come to Canada and we welcome you to bike in this big country to your hearts content. Biking in Mountains is one thing, Mountain Biking on forested trails is quite another. For all the world to come to our relatively small Mount Fromme and use its fragile forested trails for biking just is not a very good idea which is why I want this to be reviewed by the Greater Regional District and our Provincial Government.

As a Canadian I hold out my hand in friendship to you.

Yours truly,

Ernie Crist

If one area gets shut down to riders, others are sure to follow. I do NOT want to see the great Canada have such harsh regulations on its land. Down here in the states, they have cracked down on areas, then more and more areas, and they think we'll just stop riding! NO! The trails won't stop; we will keep finding areas to ride. If the land closes, the land will not be maintained, increasing litter, fire, and environmental risk. This is why we all just need to get along and work together to keep trails open. It's a win-win for everyone.
