

Subject: [Fwd: Clean up the mess around Whiteley Court in Lynn Valley]
From: Brian Platts <bplatts@shaw.ca>
Date: Mon, 29 Oct 2007 16:51:32 -0700
To: Corrie Kost <kost@triumf.ca>

Subject: Clean up the mess around Whiteley Court in Lynn Valley
From: wendyqureshi@shaw.ca
Date: Mon, 29 Oct 2007 16:33:25 -0700
To: 'North Shore News' <editor@nsnews.com>
CC: fonvca@fonvca.org, mmillerchip@nsnews.com, 'Mayor and Council - DNV' <Council@dnv.org>

Dear Editor,

The Lynn Valley Core area around the Lynn Valley shopping Mall is a mess. There is mud, dust and debris all along the adjacent roads and in the air. The muck emanates from the Whiteley Court construction site on 27th street. It is being dragged by trucks all over Lynn Valley

The District has bylaws in place to prevent this. Contractors are obliged to keep adjacent streets clean at all times. Most of them hose down trucks especially tires before they leave the site.

Most contractors have mobile washing equipment on site to do so. Bylaws to keep neighbourhoods clean and protect pedestrians are in place in virtually every municipality and city in the region

What is different in the District of North Vancouver is that, as is the case in so many other instances, District bylaws not being enforced adequately or are being ignored altogether regardless of the inconvenience and the damage to District residents and their property as is the case here.

John Sharpe, North Vancouver, 983-3354

Wendy Qureshi, North Vancouver, 980-1885

Clean up the mess around Whiteley Court in Lynn Valley.eml

Content-Type: message/rfc822

Content-Encoding: 7bit
