

Subject: [Fwd: Money is nothing without Health]
From: Brian Platts <bplatts@shaw.ca>
Date: Tue, 03 Jun 2008 14:30:04 -0700
To: Corrie Kost <kost@triumf.ca>

Subject: Money is nothing without Health
From: Wendyqureshi <wendyqureshi@shaw.ca>
Date: Tue, 03 Jun 2008 12:23:52 -0700
To: fonvca@fonvca.org

Something is missing from our so-called life in the "most beautiful place on earth, British Columbia." Continuous developments and traffic and pollution, without infrastructure looked after ahead of time, i.e. public transit, is killing our citizens. They are dying of cancer. Look at the obits.

I cannot believe that politicians at all three levels of government are still wanting to make the money at their constituents' and most importantly, their own family's expense.

The major problem of our planet is over-population and multi-national companies. How do these CEOs sleep at night? How does the "dictator" Campbell provincial government abide by ruining our ecology? How does he and Falcon justify blasting out the Bluffs in West Vancouver to create a corridor for the rich folk to get to Whistler? How does our "dictator" Campbell justify twinning the Port Mann Bridge, when the previous "elected" Translink board's own staff said that after the completion of the project the gridlock will be worse than now?

The whole world does not have to move to B.C. at our expense. And Premier Campbell and his "make money" government doesn't understand anything except making money.

Without health and well-being, our children will not grow up properly, and we as a society are doomed to eventually all die of Cancer, including Campbell and his gang. Now is the time to change our provincial government to preserve all life as we know it in B.C.

Money is nothing without Health.eml	Content-Type: message/rfc822 Content-Encoding: 7bit
--	--