Hello Brian,

I am a planner with the Federation of Calgary Communities, an organization similar to yours where we represent community associations on city-wide issues. I am contacting you as I am doing a bit of research and thought you may be able to offer some insight. In particular I am curious about the development permit process in north Vancouver and where and how are community associations involved. How are community associations circulated? Are they provided with a questionnaire when they review development permits? Do you know how your comments are used?

Any information would be useful. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me as I am happy to respond

Best,
